

Wheels of war roll into town

Military vehicles lined up at the heritage centre.

The annual "Wheels of War: Past and Present" military vehicle show took place on Saturday and Sunday at Crewe Heritage Centre.

The show featured military vehicle displays, trade stalls, model displays, and a tombola. There was musical entertainment on Saturday from the South Cheshire George Formby Ukulele Society and on Sunday from vintage vocalist Ruth Washington.

On the Saturday night, a 1940s themed big band dance party took place in the centre's exhibition hall with live music from The Wychcraft Big Band.

Crewe Heritage Centre, which celebrated its 30th anniversary in July, was open to visitors including its three signal boxes, the Advanced Passenger Train, model railway displays and layouts, static locomotive displays and rides on a miniature railway.

The event was organised by Crewe and District Military Vehicle Club in support of Help for Heroes.

Crewe and District Military Vehicle Club meets on the last Tuesday evening of each month at Hops Belgium Bar in Crewe.

New members are always welcome. For further information visit cdmvc.co.uk/
